Foreword

THE THROBBING BEATS OF THE tom tom are you and I. Together—all together—we make Central what it is. Each beat must ring true, every pulsation throb rhythmically in its place, at its time. It takes all of us working together to keep alive the spirit—the warm heart-beat of Central High School. As we help sustain this spirit, it, in turn, strengthens each of us. It forms each beat so true that even when we shall have left these halls, we shall always be echoes from the "Beat of the Tom Tom."

DEDICATION

AS THE OKLAHOMA INDIAN is representative of the American Redman, so Central is symbolic of the youth of our nation. From all parts of the country, the Indians settled in Oklahoma; from all walks of life, young people come together within the halls of Central. To us the Indians left the land with its abundant wealth. To us, from generation through generation, they bequeathed their loyalty and courage, their steadfastness and stamina. These are our inheritance and responsibility. In appreciation of this heritage, we, the Tom Tom staff of 1947, dedicate our yearbook to the Oklahoma Indian.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION is made up of seven members, elected at large from the citizens of the school district. Members serve for three years and may be reelected. In addition to acting as a governing board, the various members serve on six standing committees: Budget and Finance, Building and Sites, Education, Business Relations, Health and Cafeteria, and Personnel. Each committee considers questions and recommendations related to its assignment before the questions are brought before the board

These public spirited citizens give freely of their time and ability, without monetary compensation, in order to make Tulsa a good place for the education of children.

Assistant Principal and Deans

The assistant principal, Dr. Roy V. Maneval, and the deans, Mrs. Minnie May Summers and Mr. Edwin M. Bonde, are members of the staff who devote considerable time to guidance problems of students. Dr. Maneval handles attendance questions, attends all school athletic and social events, and acts as principal in the absence of Mr. Black.

The deans counsel students in their problems of discipline, health, vocational guidance, and employment. In addition Mr. Bonde advises Central's veterans, while Mrs. Summers is sponsor of the Girls' League.

PRINCIPAL OF CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

AMONG the fondest memories Central's students will hold of their school will be that of our principal, Mr. M. M. Black, who has shown his friendship and goodwill toward the student body in many ways often unrealized by the students. An imposing figure, both in the hall and on the stage, he represents the spirit of loyalty, understanding, and sportsmanship to his associates at Central. To those who know him well he is the embodiment of the school motto,

"Win without boasting; lose without excusing."

Student Council

The Student Council, composed of one representative from each home room and six members at large, is in many ways one of the most important organizations at Central. Serving as a center for voicing student opinion, it hears the suggestions from the individual student through his home room representative. It offers the experience of dealing with the problems which arise in government. It prepares the student for active participation in the national government.

Students eagerly appraise the first Central pennants of the year, as Student Council members offer them for sale.

The Student Council has served the student body in numerous activities. It sponsored the sale of school pennants. Several of those wonderful school dances after football and basketball games were made possible by the Student Council. One of the most appreciated contributions was the publication, for the first time in the history of Central, of a student directory. Published as a booklet small enough to be carried in a girl's purse or a boy's pocket, it contains the names, addresses, telephone numbers and grade classification of all the students in our school.

Central students may well be proud of their student government, for by functioning smoothly and efficiently it serves to knit all elements of the school into a unified whole.

Student Council

An important item in the life of a student governing body is the opportunity of observing the manner in which other schools are governed, which is made possible through annual conventions. This year the Southern Association of Student Governments, consisting of representatives from fourteen southeastern states, met in St. Petersburg, Florida. Six representatives from Tulsa Central attended this convention. Shawnee, Oklahoma, was the meeting place of the Federation of Oklahoma High School Student Councils. Enabling Tulsa students to become better acquainted was the Inter-school Convention with attendance from the three Tulsa white schools. The day sessions were conducted at Will Rogers and the evening program at Central.

Meetings of the Student Council, held on alternate Fridays, were conducted by the following officers: Tom Wood, president; Bob Worley, vice-president; Walter Taylor, treasurer; Marguerite Eng, secretary; Judy Beth Berry, corresponding secretary; Donna Young, parliamentarian; Marjorie Williams, Laurann Wells, and Gerald Adamson, Inter-school Council members. Miss Eunice Lewis and Mr. Lawrence Shepherd put in many hours of work as sponsors.

Student Council members in regular meeting listen attentively to Mr. Black, who has been invited to discuss a possible revision of the lunch schedule.

Indian Heritage

INDIAN heritage in Oklahoma is dispersed much more widely than is generally realized. Not only is this heritage carried on through blood relationship, but also by the impact upon all Oklahomans of Indian arts, customs, and cultural inheritance.

A 1947 survey of the student body of Central High School shows 473 persons of the 2,824, or one out of every seven of the students, to be of Indian descent. At least nineteen tribes are represented among these students at Central High School. There are some 285 persons of Cherokee blood, twenty-nine of Choctaw, nineteen of Creek and twelve of Osage in Central along with representatives of other tribes. The following is an alphabetical list showing the kinds of Indian tribal blood to be found among the student body*:

Algonquin	Delaware
Apache	Kiowa
Blackfoot	Munsee
Cherokee	Osage
Chickasaw	Oto
Chippewa	Potawatomi
Choctaw	Quapaw*
Comanche	Seminole
Creek	Shawnee

Sioux

If Central High School can be taken as a cross section of the city of Tulsa, then we may assume that the same proportion of Indian blood holds for the city as for the high school. One of every seven students is of Indian descent. Therefore, one of every seven residents of Tulsa should be of Indian descent. The Chamber of Commerce gives the present population of Tulsa as 180,000; accordingly, there must be approximately 30,113 citizens of Tulsa who can boast of Indian ancestry.

Before Oklahoma became a state in 1907, it was known as the Indian Territory and was divided into regions where certain tribes had their homes. These nations were the Cherokee, Tonkawa, Osage, Pawnee, Ponca, Oto, Missouria, Kickapoo, Creek, Arapahoe, Comanche, Kiowa-Apache, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Seminole, Potawatomi, Shawnee, Quapaw, Modoc, Peoria, Sac-Fox, Wyandotte, Kaw, Cheyenne, and Wichita-Caddo*.

As you notice, some of the nations include two or more tribes. This is caused by the affiliation of tribes which had previously been associated together.

Several of the more wealthy Indians have left large sums of money for the continuance and furthering of Indian lore. One of these is Thomas Gilcrease who established the Gilcrease Foundation, which has as its purpose the support of a museum of Indian art and the training of Indian orphans. Mr. Gilcrease was educated in France and became interested in the training of Indian youth for college after returning to the United States. This interest prompted the establishment of the Foundation. A finer collection of Indian literature and fine art is not to be found elsewhere in the United States.

Thus Indian heritage presents a noble perspective to a great number of our population and stimulates interest in Indian art, customs, and nature among all of our population.

PLAY SELECTION: (Cabinet)

Seniors of 1947

Three short years ago the class of 1947 entered Central under the directorship of Miss Gertrude Rector, who with Mansel Cowan, our sophomore class president, led us through an eventful year. Our class play that year, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," was a tremendous hit.

Of special interest were the elaborate costumes and medieval scenery. With this first play we began giving the wholehearted and effective support which has characterized every project our class has undertaken for three years.

As we entered our second year at Central the beat of the Tom Tom and all it symbolized grew stronger within us. Miss Ednamay Weeks was to be our class adviser for the next two years. Gene Simpson was elected president. While we were juniors, we began to take a more active part in assemblies and the extra-curricular activities of the school. We presented as our class play the delightful three-act comedy, "Don't Take My Penny." One of the most important activities of our junior year was selecting and ordering the rings and pins which we have ever since been flaunting before the eyes of underclassmen.

Now we have reached the last part of our career at Central. With Frank Wamsley as our president we have made the most of this year. We were proud to present as our class play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." It was the first time the play had been given by amateur actors. Our Christmas party, class day, the annual Daze, Ritz Week, KVOO day, the senior class breakfast at Mohawk park, the senior dinner, vesper service, and commencement will not soon be forgotten.

Neither will we soon forget the excellent manner in which Central has prepared us for the future—whether it be for further study in college or for our chosen vocations. Preparatory courses such as trigonometry, psychology aeronautics, geology, and our cooperative training courses, are only a few of the unusual opportunities offered to students in such a high school as Central.

We have had a prosperous, pleasant, useful time at Central. And as the throbbing of the Tom Tom echoes and reechoes from the original beats, so will the inspiration of Central High School be carried by us into the far parts of the earth.

Ticket sales are booming for the senior class play, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Patsy Jones and Fleming Sherwood report their room sales to Ralph McCormick, scorekeeper.

Junior Class

Following the timeless practice of juniors before them, our junior class began the year by attempting to set the pace for their younger sophomore brothers and by looking, though somewhat reluctantly, to their more-experienced senior friends for guidance. But now, with the help of their friend and adviser, Miss Lulu B. Beckington, and under the leadership of their class officers, headed by President L. D. Teter, they have completed their junior year. Soon they will hold that long-awaited classification of seniors.

This year was full of activity and fun for juniors. The class play, "Spring Green," was perhaps their most outstanding extra-curricular production, with fifteen students participating on the stage and the other nine hundred and sixteen members of the class selling tickets and generally helping make it the best junior class play Central had ever seen.

Every few weeks there were class assemblies, which offered such prize entertainment as Mr. Robert H. Nutt, the memory trainer, and a Christmas nonsense play, "Dolls." And everyone liked having a chance to select the three beautiful queen's attendants, Ann Hasty, Jill Athey, and Sally Millison.

However, studies were not left untouched. Along with basic subjects such as mathematics, science, and history which are not restricted to any class, the juniors had courses peculiar to themselves. For example, Macbeth and his troubles were usual topics for conversation between any two juniors, no matter how varied their individual interests, since almost all members of the class studied this masterpiece of literature during the year.

Home living and physical education were also required subjects which added to the ever-increasing wisdom of the students, as they drew nearer their goal of completing their high school education.

Now with eleven years of study behind them, the juniors are ready to take their places as members of the graduating class of 1948. But even after they have left Central High School, they will carry with them the knowledge, the high principles, the comradeship which came to be a part of them through experiences such as those shared by members of this year's junior class.

Ambitious juniors make good use of the school library. Here Ray Ferrell is preparing for a busy night by checking out several books from Miss Flossie M. Martin, librarian.

The Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma

The Choctaws were the first of the five tribes to trade a part of their lands in the East for a country in the Indian Territory. The Choctaws had helped Jackson in the Pensacola campaign of the War of 1812. The outstanding chief of the Choctaws, Pushmataha, for whom the county in Oklahoma was named, was buried in the Congressional Cemetery with high military honors. The journey west, called the Trail of Tears, was a tragic one for the Choctaws. In addition to their being caused to grieve at leaving their old homes and ancient country forever, they suffered much on the way and many died and were buried along the Trail of Tears. They were taken in groups of five hundred to one thousand by United States soldiers.

The Creek people lived in forty-seven towns in the Indian Territory, many of the towns being given names of the old Creek towns in the East, such as Okmulgee, Tulsey, and Coweta. The Creeks long clung to their ancient customs. They had tribal ball games, which incidentally are the roughest games played in the world, and the busk or green corn dance in summer. Mrs. W. S. Robertson, missionary to the Creek nation, helped greatly in translating English texts into the Creek language. She was the first woman in the United States to receive a Ph. D. degree. Her daughter, Alice Robertson, was the first woman to be elected from Oklahoma to the United States Congress and was one of the founding teachers of Tulsa University, then Kendall College.

In government fundamentals the Cherokees were prominent. With Sequoyah's invention of the Cherokee alphabet, the printing of newspapers in Cherokee became common. The first newspaper in Oklahoma, "The Cherokee Advocate," was published at Tahlequah under Cherokee governmental control. Stressing education, the terms of the Treaty of New Echota called for the establishment of schools after 1810. After the adoption of a new constitution in 1827, the public school system in the Indian Territory remained under Cherokee control. A Cherokee Council law made possible the election of a superintendent of education and the establishment of eleven neighborhood schools. By the time that the Cherokee government was replaced by the state of Oklahoma there were some one hundred and twenty public schools in the Cherokee nation.

The Chickasaws sold their lands in Mississippi at public auction and purchased the right of citizenship in the Choctaw nation in the Indian Territory. In as much as the Chickasaws had sold their Mississippi country for money, they were the wealthiest of the southwestern Indians at the time when they moved into the Indian Territory. Living with the Choctaws, friction eventually arose over governmental procedures and after a short time it became necessary for the United States authorities to establish a separate Chickasaw nation in the Indian Territory.

The Seminole people resented being moved to a new country and resisted with a seven year war. At last the United States authorities put up a white flag of truce, thereby luring the Indian chief, Osceola, out of hiding. Thinking that the authorities were wanting to make a treaty, the chief and his advisers were easy prey and were thrown into prison. The old chief died in prison, and finally the tribe was moved to the Indian Territory. The war cost the United States ten million dollars and countless lives.

These five Indian tribes, torn from their eastern homes and forced to move into the newly laid out Indian Territory, were to dot the landscape with farms, begin new homes and settlements, establish governments and schools; and their achievements and native habits were to win for them the name of The Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma.

Sophomore Class

The sophomores made an auspicious start this year by electing their class officers, who have been highly successful as leaders. As their representatives they chose Robert Kramer, president; Joe Gibson, vice-president; Sandra Forster, secretary; Fred Jones, treasurer; Jackie Conner, representative to Youth Incorporated. But leadership along the line of class officers was not the only field in which sophomores excelled. Sandra Forster, Donnie Vaughn and Karin Vetter, queen's attendants, were selected as the fairest of the fair.

Everyone will remember such required subjects as American literature with its study of Meet an American; United States history with the romance of the early pioneers developing a continent; science, and physical education. For more ambitous sophomores Spanish, geometry, Latin, clothing, foods, drafting, and many other optional courses opened new vistas of learning.

The year would not have been complete without class assemblies and the sophomore tests. There was great enthusiasm over the class play, The Youngest, by Phillip Barry; and the cast was one of the best Central has ever seen. The Daze was a high light of the year, with sophomores having their first opportunity to participate in the annual production.

Under the guidance of the home room presidents and Miss Gertrude Rector, class adviser, nominees for class officers for the coming year were selected and voted on by the students, paving the way for next year's work.

With the end of the year there is a feeling of closer friendship, greater knowledge, better sportsmanship, and truer love for Central High School in the heart of every sophomore—an advance far beyond the feeling he knew when he entered school last fall. As Miss Rector stated it, "This year's sophomore class is the best ever."

SOPHOMORES

Don Cihak and John Sartin using an effigy, do some strenuous campaigning for sophomore officers. Since Dr. Maneval doesn't approve of lynching, the body was soon removed.

SOUNDS REPRESENTED BY VOWELS

A as a in father, or short as a in rival.
E as a in hate, or short as e in met.
I as i in pique, or short as i in pin.
O as o in note, but as approaching to aw in law.
U as oo in moon, or short as u in pull.
V as u in but, nasalized.

CONSONANT SOUNDS.

G, is sounded hard approaching to k; sometimes before e, i, u and v, its sound is k. D has a sound between the English d and t; sometimes, before o, u, and v its sound is t; when written before l and s the same analogy prevails

All other letters as in English.

Syllables beginning with g, except ga have sometimes the power of k; syllables when written with tl, except tla sometimes vary to dla.

Invented in 1821 by George Guess Sequoyah, Cherokee Indian, the Cherokee syllabary was influential in reuniting the Cherokee nation in Indian Territory and in teaching thousands of hitherto unlettered Indians of that tribe to read and write their language.

Sequoyah

George Guess, a Cherokee Indian, better known as Sequoyah, was born about 1770 and spent his boyhood in the eastern part of Tennessee. Besides excelling in hunting, he excercised ingenuity in numerous ways—as a fur trader, a silversmith, a blacksmith, and an artist.

In 1809, Sequoyah realized that his race was under the disadvantage of being without a means of written communication. He therefore took it upon himself to devise for his people, an alphabetical system similar to that of the English. By using some ready-made characters, making others by modifying those, and obtaining still others from his own mind, Sequoyah, using eighty-five characters or letters, represented every sound in the Cherokee language. After years of patient work, he completed his invention in 1821. When tested by the leading men of the Cherokee nation, it was found to be an overwhelming success. This written languge was employed by missionaries and, partially, was used in the printing of a newspaper, The Phoneix.

Most important of all, however, is the great service that Sequoyah did for his people, for within a few months of its perfection, this alphabet enabled thousands of previously illiterate Cherokees to read and write their language.

Basketball

Basketball has been a favorite mid-winter sport at Central for many years. The 1947 season proved to be no exception. Head Coach Grady Skillern, Assistant Coaches Walter Barham and Clarence Ehlers, and the squad produced a team that brought honor to the school by its expert playing and its fine sportsmanship.

Central won ten games and lost ten with close scores all the way. Total points scored by our opponents were 645 as against 724 scored by the Braves. The games with Rogers, with overtime periods played both times, were the high lights of the season. The team elected Leonard Hughes and John Tanner as honorary captains.

It's a toss up at the Central-Webster game; two boys reach for the ball while the other members of both teams stand tense and ready.

TRACK TEAM

Track Team

Coach William Lantz and the 1946 state championship track team finished the season with a record of seven victories and only one defeat. The team trained diligently for five weeks to gain speed and build up endurance for the meets. Then off to the meets they went to bring home the state championship.

In the dual meet Central crushed Rogers 78 1-3 to 48 2-3. In the Invitation Meet, the T. U. Relays, the O.B.U. Relays, the City Meet, the Conference and Regional Meet, and the State Meet—in all of these Central won first place. But in the A. & M. State Relays, Central dropped to second place.

Charley Owen was the only boy on the team to letter three years and was high point man of the year. Ray Burns, Jim Finley, Carl Jacobsen, Orville Owen, Jack Shawgo, R. G. Slocum, John Smith, and Frank Vann were the lettermen of two years.

No. Jack Shawgo isn't holding off feminine admirers. This is what is known as putting a shot.

2. Off with a quick energy pick up! Carl Jacobsen in the center starts the mile relay for Central.
3. "Hold it, Jim. Keep that lead." Jim Harrington takes the baton from Carl Jacobsen in the mile relay.

CROSS COUNTRY

FIRST ROW: Bill Shuman, Kenneth Logsdon, Jack Montgomery, Owen Irish, Glenn Hufford, Philip Viseur, Steve Bolyard, Leo Rodriguez, Hale Staley, Coach William Lantz.

Cross Country

The cross country team of 1946, under the experienced direction of Coach William Lantz, took first place in both of the dual meets and second place in each of the triangle meets this year. The team showed fine sportsmanship and spirit throughout the season and had a commendable record.

Hale Staley, cross country star, runs with both feet, in spite of the fact that it looks as if he has only one and one-half legs.

In the dual meets the boys took a smashing victory over both McAlester and Stroud, but their luck changed in the other meets; for they lost to Rogers all three times. In the dual meets, the O. U. State Meet and the City Meet the high-point team wins, but the low-point team wins the A. & M. State Meet.

The lettermen that started this team were Owen Irish and Hale Staley. Lettermen chosen for cross country of 1946 were Steve Bolyard, Glenn Hufford, Owen Irish, Kenneth Logsdon, Bob Montgomery, Leo Rodriquez, Bill Shuman, Hale Staley and Philip Viseur. Returning lettermen for 1947 are Kenneth Logsdon, Leo Rodriquez, Bill Shuman, Hale Staley, and Philip Viseur.

TENNIS

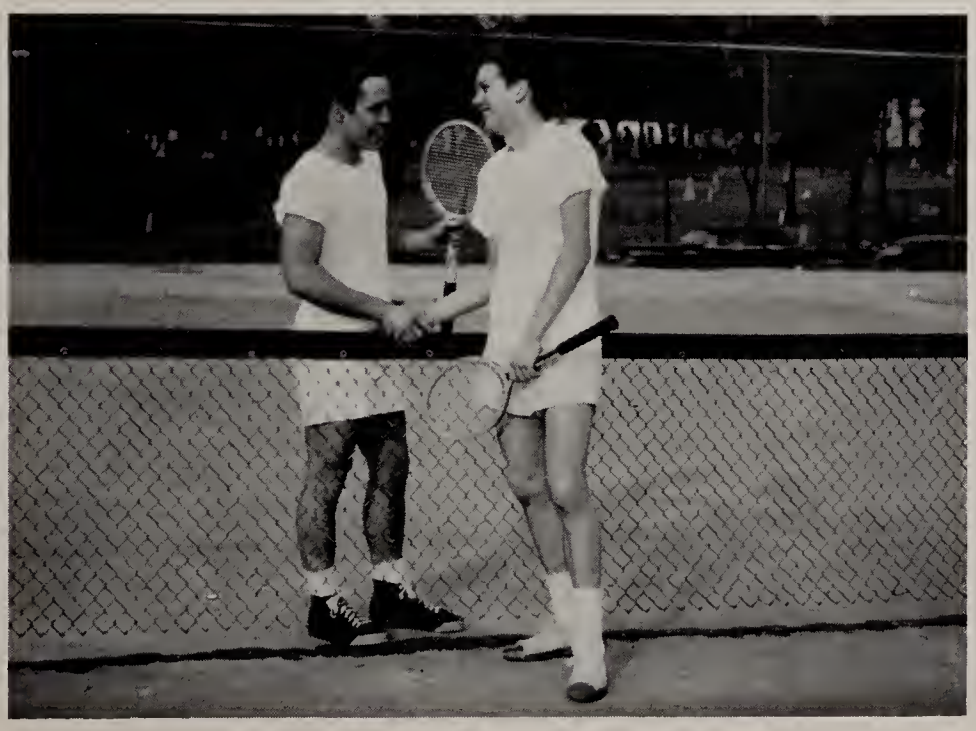
FIRST ROW: Fred Berry, Jack Wamsley, Bill Ayers, Bill Hall, Paul Hurley, John Ross.

Tennis Team

Under the competent leadership of Coach Rex Peery and Captain Bill Hall the Tulsa Central tennis team became the state champion of 1945-46.

The tennis team started out the year's tournaments at Winfield, Kansas. Bill Hall, Paul Hurley and John Ross took the first three places respectively in the singles. Hall and Hurley placed first in the doubles. Then Central defeated Rogers in two dual meets. This ended 1945 victoriously.

Jaek Wamsley and Paul Hurley, still friends, shake hands after the game is over.



Then the 1946 season started out with the Interstate Tournament. Central won the top three places with Hurley first, Hall second, and Jack Wamsley third. Hurley and Wamsley were first in the doubles.

Central played Muskogee twice, winning 6-0 in both games; Shawnee twice, again winning both 6-0; and Bartlesville once, Central winning 7-0 in the last of the dual meets.

In the Oklahoma Six Conference, Hurley and Hall took the single honors. Hurley and Wamsley won the doubles.

Climaxing a successful season, Hurley took first place and Hall second in the Oklahoma State Championship meet played at Norman. Hurley and Wamsley were the state champion double players; Bill Ayers and Bill Hall, second.

At the end of every year the Sandow-Ruby Tournament is held for all Central boys. Wamsley took the honors in the singles, and Wamsley and Hurley won the doubles.

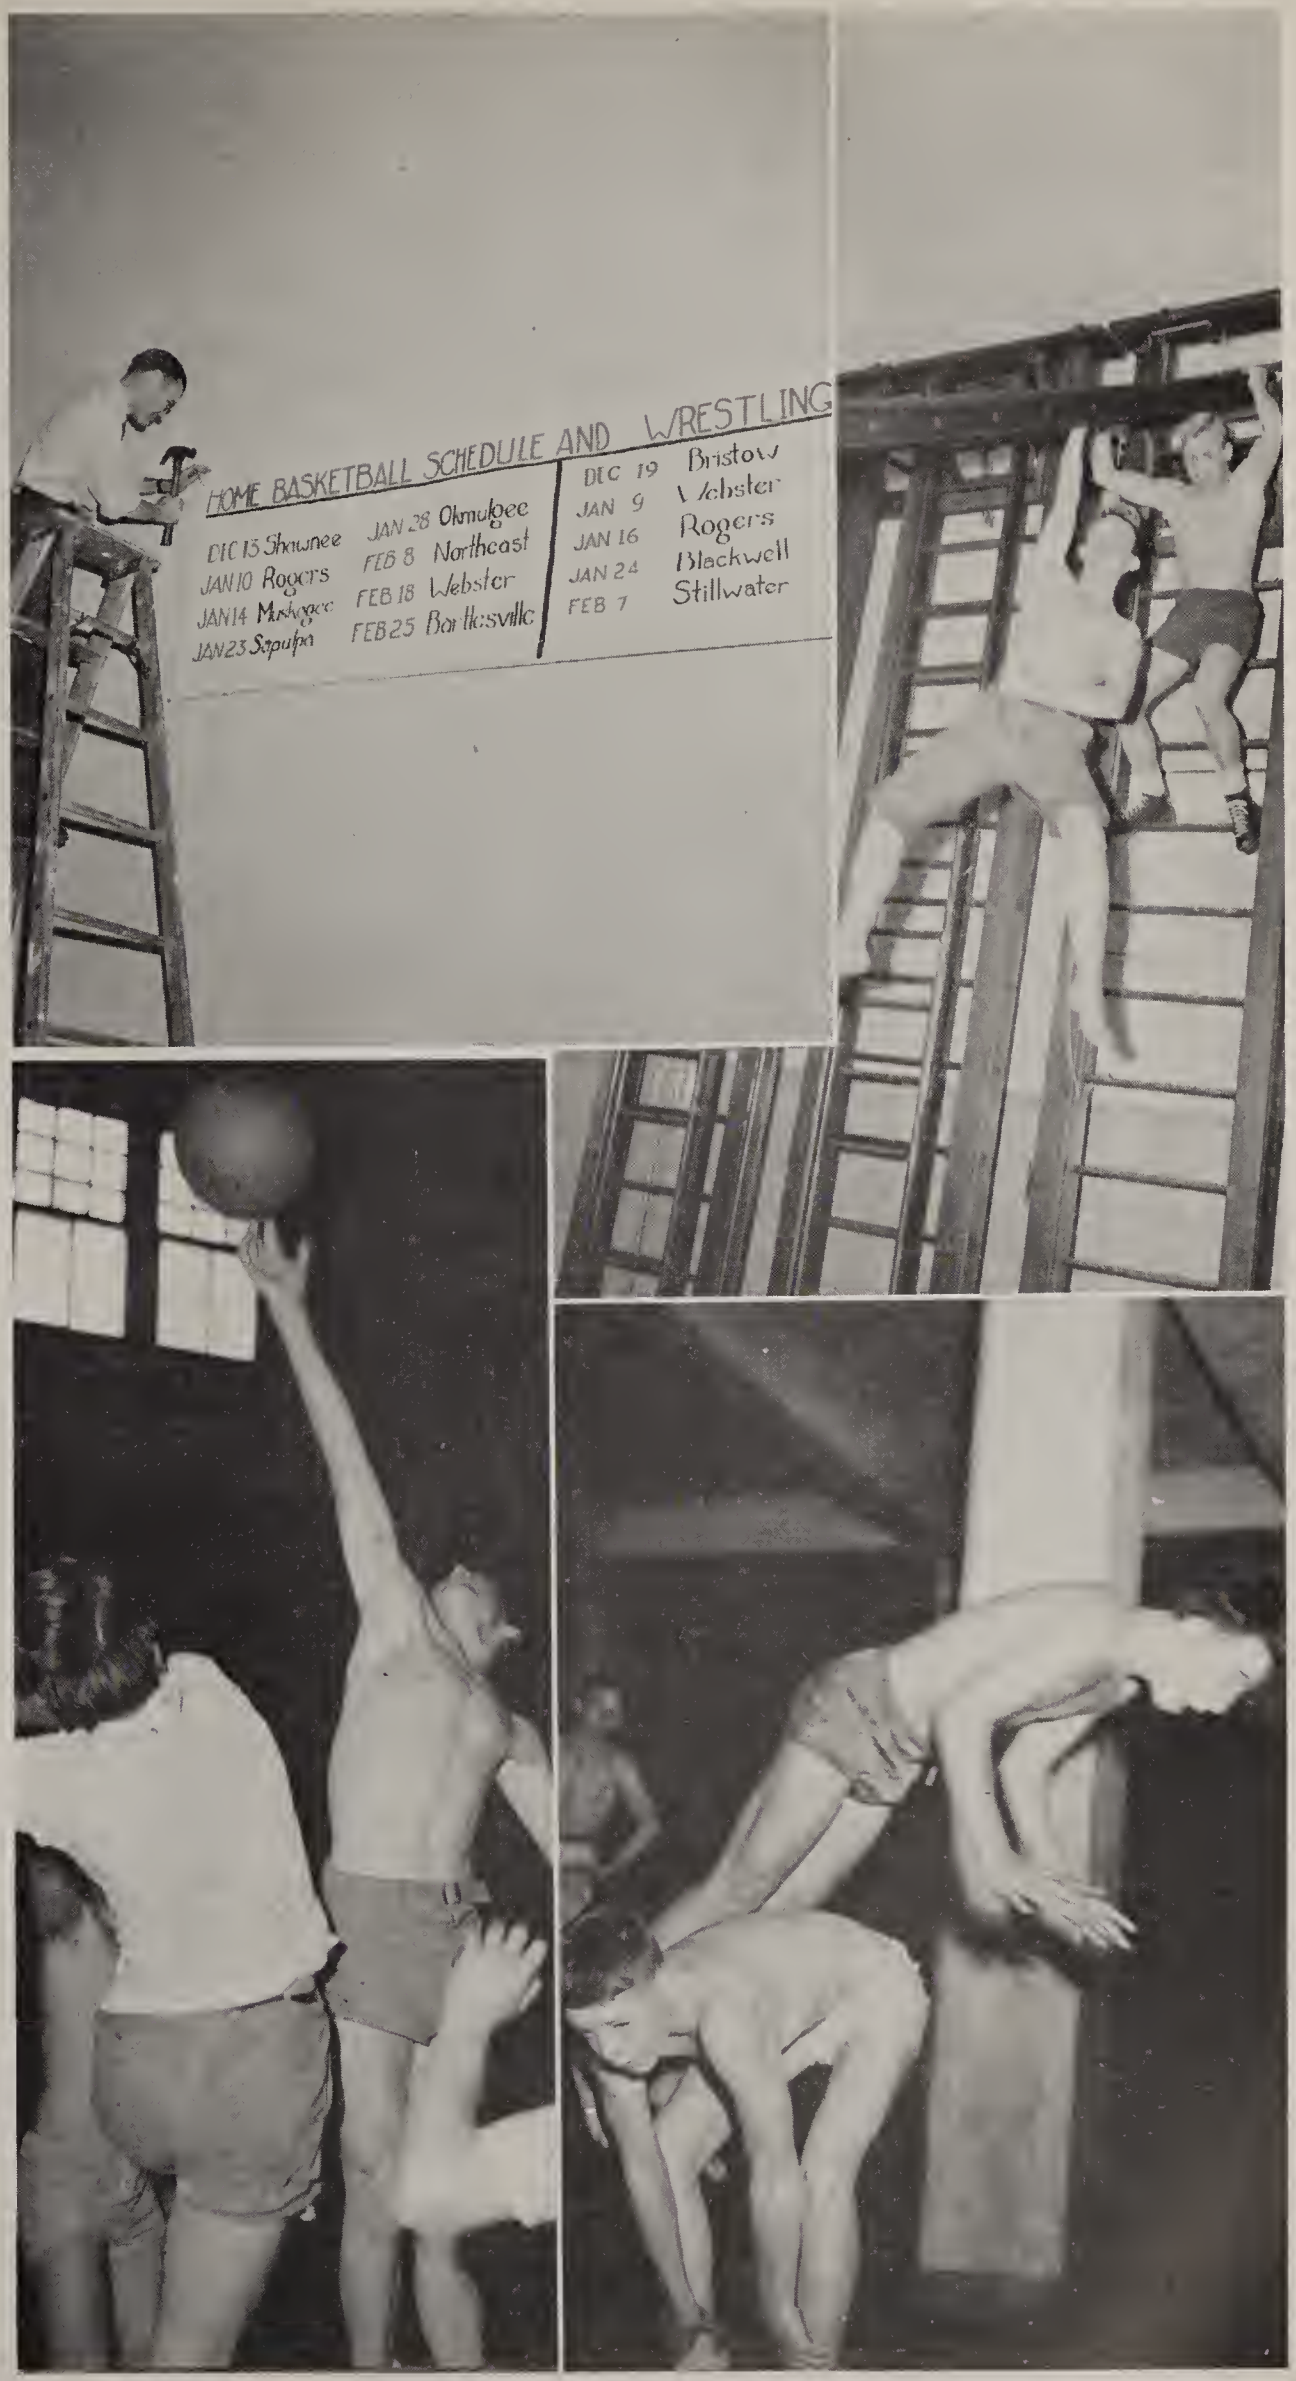
REGULAR GYMNASIUM CLASSES

Coach Melvin Riggs joins hands with the starting line-up in a bond of friendship just before the game begins.

These boys in the regular swimming class go off the deep end of the pool with a splash.

REGULAR GYMNASIUM CLASSES

Mr. Warren Sharits, boys' physical education secretary, posts the basketball and wrestling dates. Results? Sore thumb!



Kenneth Quigg, above, and Ray Ringer do hand walking to develop their muscles.

Bill Peterson gets ready to catch the basketball as Jimmy Cruze stretches up to touch it. The boys enjoy intramural basketball in their everyday classes.

Dick Hepworth goes over Bill Powers to demonstrate a running dive for the rest of the boys in the tumbling class.

WRESTLING TEAM

Wrestling

The 1946-47 wrestling team, under the capable direction of Coach Rex Peery and Coach Melvin E. Riggs, finished another scheduled season undefeated. This is the third time in four years that the Braves have bagged the state championship.

The tournament held at Daniel Webster High School at the end of the season to determine state championships found Central's Braves far in the lead. The five boys who placed first were Phil Smith in the 165 pound class, Jack Wamsley at 154 pounds, Frank Vann at 138 pounds, Don Meeker at 127 pounds, George Layman at 120 pounds. This gave the team 25 points. Don Jessen, 145 pounds, and Ray Poston, 133 pounds, won second places, giving the team six more points. Then Warren Christenberry, 103 pounds, and Herkey Fowler, 112 pounds, came in third in their classes, giving the team two more points. The other six points were on falls to make a total of 39 points.

The lettermen for this year were Warren Christenberry, Herkey Fowler, Don Jessen, George Layman, Don Meeker, Ernie Mehlhorn, Pat Miller, Raymond Poston, Gene Simpson, Dean Smith, Phil Smith, Frank Vann, Jack Wamsley, Charles Westmoreland. The lettermen and coaches elected George Layman honorary captain for the season. Only Herkey Fowler and Ernie Mehlhorn will return to form the nucleus for next year's team.

No, he's no ostrich. George Layman of Central is trying to gain the advantage from a ticup position with Blackwell's Rich Co'lyar.

Golf Team

Under the capable guidance of Coach Melvin E. Riggs and honorary captain Darrel Baker the golf team of 1945-46 chalked up a record to be proud of. Throughout the year the boys showed good sportsmanship and good playing.

In the dual meets, Central clashed with Oklahoma City Central to win 9½ to 2½.

Bob Meek and David Fields examine their clubs to see if everything is in good order before the match.

When Central and Muskogee met, Central again won 9½ to 2½. In the next Muskogee-Central match Central took an 11½ to ½ win. The Webster-Central match was again Central's with a score of Webster ½, Central 11½. Then Central met Wichita East for a tie of 8 to 8. Rogers and Central clashed next, with Central winning 11½ to 8½. The Central-Coffeyville match went to Central with a record of 18½ to 1½. In the Central-Bartlesville match Central took top honors, 12 to 8. The last four games were played at Bartlesville. This was all matched scoring.

When Bartlesville, Rogers, Webster and Central competed, Central came in first. In the Oklahoma Six Conference, Rogers was first, Central second, and Webster third. Cascia Hall, Webster and Central met with the following results: Central 21; Webster 9½; and Cascia Hall 5½. The state meet found Central coming in third. This was all medal scoring, with the lowest total number of strokes winning.

STUDENT TEAM MANAGERS

Earnest Esst cheeks cards to see if the football equipment is all in and looks up to see who is next in line.

One of W. A. Couch's many jobs is to keep the warm-up jackets straight for the next wrestling and tennis meets.

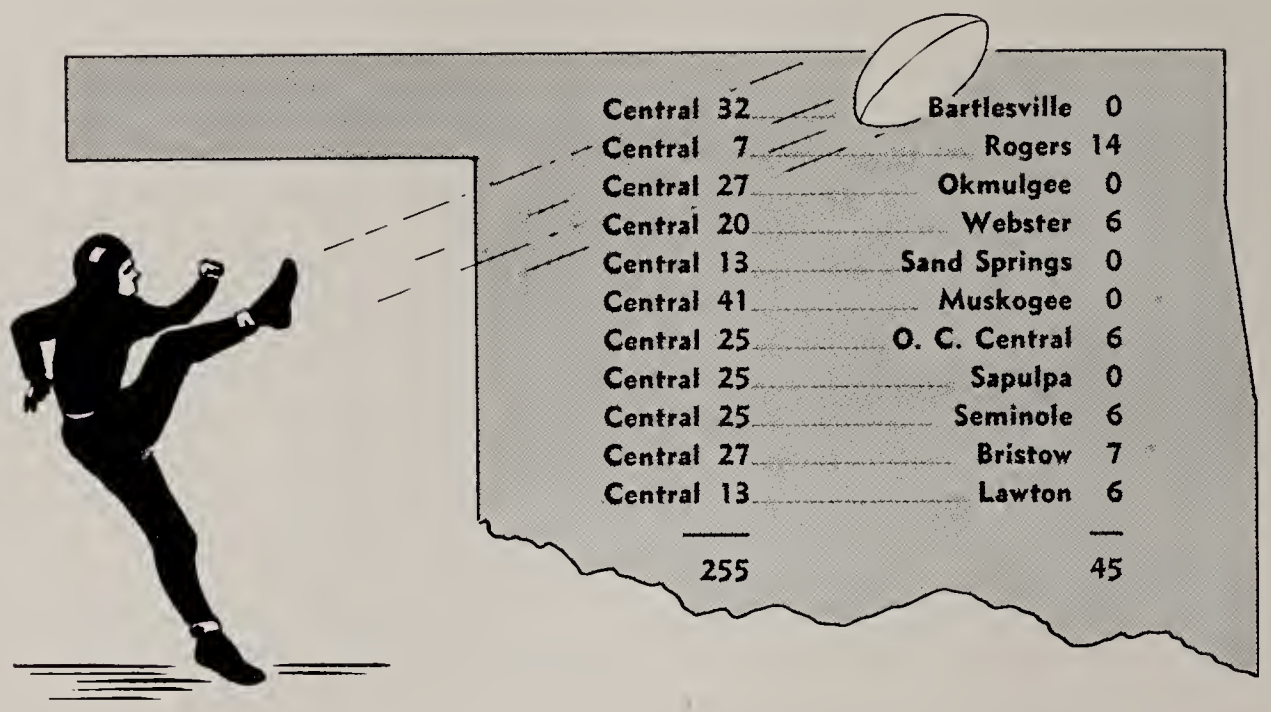
R. C. McCormick's job is to see that the track and cross-country shoes are well spiked for the next race.

Working hard to get ready for the big baseball game, Jerry Forsythe is cleaning the bats.

"Who's next to get a clean shirt?" asks John Wilford as he turns from the record of basketball equipment.

George Adams looks sad as he fixes an ankle wrap for some unfortunate boy.

Football Over Oklahoma



With only one defeat to mar an otherwise perfect record, the Central Braves displayed a powerful line and an agile backfield to bring home the state championship of 1946. The Braves had only 45 points scored against them as opposed to their own 255. Although the Rogers Ropers defeated Central in the second game of the season, Central took the pigskin in hand and with courage and grim determination ended the season with the state championship.

The Tulsa World's 1946 All-State Squad included Clyde Jones, Jack Shawgo, backs, and Floyd Phariss, tackle. Carl Bottenfield, back, and Joe Horkey, tackle, were on the honorable mention list. Dean Smith was elected by the boys as honorary captain for the 1946 season.

Twenty-seven of the boys lettered this year. It was the third year for Tom Armitage, Clyde Jones, and Floyd Phariss to letter. Bob Benzel, Bob Collins, Joe Horkey, Jack Hubeli, Chuck Masters, Floyd Murphy, Brooks O'Kelly, Jack Shawgo, Fleming Sherwood, Dean Smith, Phil Smith, Frank Wamsley, and Jack Wamsley lettered for the second year.

Good sportsmanship, which is fully as important as winning games, was in evidence at all times both by the football team and the spectators. On the basis of this, Central received the Oklahoma Athletic Sportsmanship top rating. Right and might went hand in hand with the 1946 football team.

Bartlesville and Rogers

Ramrodded by a powerful line which refused to give up a first down, the Central Braves outclassed the Bartlesville eleven, 32 to 0, in their 6-A district opener. Center Chuck Masters was the game captain.

In one of the hardest-fought games ever witnessed in Skelly stadium, the Will Rogers Ropers proved to be too much for the Central Braves and bested them 14 to 7. Wheelhorse Floyd Phariss was the game captain.

Okmulgee and Webster

Rebounding from their 14 to 7 defeat by Rogers, Central's Braves marched to a 27-to-0 triumph over Okmulgee at the Bulldogs' own stadium. The Braves displayed power in all departments. Jack Shawgo, 205-pound star fullback, was the game captain.

The Webster Warriors fought with courage and determination, but not hard enough, as the Central Braves crashed through to register a 20-to-6 triumph. Quarterback Clyde Jones was the game captain.

Sand Springs and Muskogee

Taking their fourth victory in five starts, the Central Braves broke through to a 13-to-0 victory against a fighting Sand Springs Sandite eleven. Two important players, Bob Benzel and Joe Horkey, were the game captains.

Spurred on by the knowledge that a victory over Muskogee would give them a chance to tie Sapulpa and Rogers for the 6-A district title, the Braves played for keeps all the way, taking a smashing 41-to-0 triumph over the Muskogee Roughers.

Oklahoma City Central

Starting slowly against Oklahoma City Central's tricky "T" formation, Central staged a thrilling second half to defeat the Oklahoma City Redskins, 25 to 6, in Oklahoma City's Taft stadium. Carl Bottenfield carried the ball across the line for three of the touchdowns. Floyd Murphy was responsible for the last touchdown. Sparkplug Phil Smith was the game captain. The Oklahoma City game is traditional. In years past, the Oklahoma City game was the game of the year.

Sapulpa

Tulsa Central's battering Braves staged their best game of the year when they crushed the Sapulpa Chieftains, 25 to 0. Clyde Jones and Dean Smith went together to be the game captains. Central's victory threw the District 6-A championship race into a three-way tie with Central, Rogers, and Sapulpa all owning records of five games won and one lost. In drawing Central's name from among the three, Jimmy Menzies, Tribune reporter, gave Central the opportunity of going into the finals and bringing home the state championship.

Seminole

Central and Seminole clashed in the first round of the high school grid play-offs as Central combined a devastating ground attack and a powerful aerial game to down a fighting Seminole team, 25 to 6, in the Chieftains' stadium. Central had control of the ball most of the game. Game captains were Carl Bottenfield and Chuck Masters, two very capable teammates. The highlight of the game was Clyde Jones' 40-yard pass to Jim Marshall for one of the touchdowns.

Bristow

Ripping the Bristow line with a crushing running attack, the Tulsa Central Braves rolled into the finals of the state high school football playoffs by beating a fighting, but outclassed Pirate eleven, 27 to 7. The victory threw Central into the finals against Lawton which had upset Oklahoma City Capitol Hill, 32 to 6. End Tom Tarpley and guard Dean Smith acted as game captains.

Lawton

The mighty Central Braves conquered an unrelenting Lawton eleven, 13 to 6, at Owen field, Norman, and came home with the state championship. The Lawton Wolverines made their only touchdown with less than a minute to play in the game, but Central took over the ball then and thirty seconds later had the coveted championship neatly tucked away for a year. The star men from the backfield, Clyde Jones and Jack Shawgo, were game captains.

1. Does she measure up? Each and every girl has the opportunity and requirement to find out whether or not she is up to par as far as weight, height, and posture are concerned. A record is kept of physical examinations given at the first and last of the year.

2. To improve their posture, girls who can profit by it go into individual gym classes where they take corrective exercises. Hanging by their hands are Iona Searles and Inez McCurdy exercising their abdominal muscles. Mary Tarpley is reverse climbing, an exercise designed to help correct a hollow back.

3. Here is what you have been waiting for, girls. It's a revolution, a way to reduce those hips and waists, without bothersome dieting, too. Miss Rachel Blackburn invented this device which is to be found in room 107. Here Loyce Lassiter is helping Mona Nell Moses use the belt.

1. It's team work that counts. On down the field the ball goes, from one team mate to another. Sportsmanship and good healthful exercise as well as speed and agility are assets that can be gained from a well-played game of field hockey. A very active game, it is enjoyed by all.

2. Nice hit! Lee Lind puts a Babe Ruth swing into it and does her best to make it a home run. By the time the year is over many of the girls, who had scarcely seen a baseball bat before, emerge as apt softball players.

3. Practice makes perfect, and it's practice they do in the girls' tennis classes. The training begins with the fundamentals—learning how to hold the racket correctly. Later comes active participation in actual matches with the score properly kept. One of the primary lessons is that of learning the forehand drive, which is pictured here.

1. All that goes up must come down. Yes, and Shirley Gordon goes up and down in good jack-knife form while other members of the swimming class look on. Every girl in the gym classes must either pass an exemption test or take swimming. In this way, each girl becomes more accomplished in this aquatic sport.

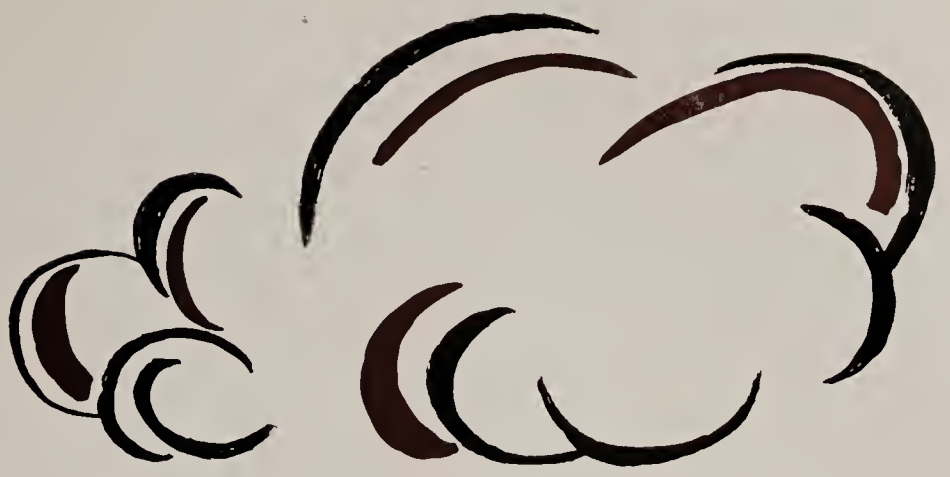
2. Marye Jo Hamilton shoots across a serve while partner Naydene Kelley waits for the return. Ping-pong is another beneficial sport in which the girls participate when the weather prevents outdoor exercises. This is not only good fun in itself but is also helpful training in preparation for tennis.

3. It's a toss-up! All are intent on seeing that their team gets that ball. When rain or snow chases the girls inside, there are few complaints, for a fast game of basketball is a stimulating activity for the girls and one that is usually eagerly anticipated.

1. Over and back, over and back! Careful concentration is a requirement in these relays that play another important part in the girls' physical education program. Such activities as this are extremely useful in building good muscle coordination and speed. Since certain privileges are to be gained by the winning team, each group does its best.

2. Playing London Bridge? No, It's the cowboy loop, one of the many steps learned by the girls in the square dancing classes. Since Mrs. Mary Jo Bradford and Miss Rachel Blackburn are both experienced callers, this recreation is made even more enjoyable and interesting with realistic calls.

3. A friend in need is a friend indeed. That this is true is well known by all the girls in the physical education department of central. Mrs. Catherine Reis' aid to the girls ranges from checking out tennis rackets, balls, bathing suits, and towels to mending torn suits and opening lockers.



UNGI-NAY-LI

(Brothers)

The girls relax in the South Auditorium as they wait for the inspirational program.

Bobbie Fay Smith, president of the Senior Girls' League, listens as Sally Lane, secretary, reads the minutes of the previous meeting.

The Girls' League

The Girls' League, one of the largest organizations at Central, furthers relationships between girls in all three classes. Every girl attending Central is a member and may go to Mrs. Minnie May Summers, sponsor, for advice on any occasion.

This year the girls have enthusiastically supported their league by adopting a Dutch war orphan under the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, Inc. They have also contributed to such local drives as the Babies' Milk Fund.

Assemblies are held monthly; and the girls plan, direct, and produce them under the supervision of Mrs. Summers. Some of the assemblies had prominent women of Tulsa for their speakers. Among these were Mrs. Nathan Gibson, former city treasurer, and Miss Betty Suomela, a representative of the American Airlines Hostess Training School.

An all-girl assembly the first thing in the morning is a good way to start the day.

The Girls' League

Each home room elects one girl as its representative to the Girls' League. These girls meet monthly with their officers to discuss new projects or business.

The senior Girls' League president was Bobbie Fay Smith, who was supported by Esther Hazen, vice-president; Sally Lane, secretary; and Connie Simmons, treasurer.

The cabinet of the junior Girls' League consisted of Jill Athey, president; Anita Givens, vice-president; Juana Ingram, secretary; and Theresa Wagner, treasurer.

The sophomore girls elected Sue Crossland to be their president; Joan Burger, vice-president; Bobetta Burroughs, secretary; and Joan Henley, treasurer.

Each year the girls take time off from their numerous activities to give a dance or party. It is usually given in the spring, and all who attend have fun.

Patty Davis, Helen Beckett, Doyne Rood, and Pat Schafer read a letter from the Foster Parent's Plan for War Children about Johannes Marinur Avonthuur, Dutch orphan adopted by the Girls' League.

Advertising Board

Under the direction of Mr. R. C. Reynolds, the Advertising Board has upheld the high standards of loyalty and service which have been established in former years.

Each Tuesday morning, promptly at 8:15, the president, Gerald Adamson, called the meeting to order. To take over in case of his absence was Vice-President Claudia White. Nancy Blue kept tab of the proceedings, while Patsy Jones made the money stretch to meet the needs.

One of the most important undertakings of the first semester was the promotion and check-up of Activity Budget Ticket sales. The committee on this check-up sent a personal letter to each student buying on the installment plan to remind him of deadlines on payments. The Advertising Board has the advertising for all Speech Arts plays plus the Parent-Teachers' Association membership drive which is held in the fall of each year. During the second semester comes the advertising of those two dynamic productions of the year, the opera and the Daze.

All work and no play make life dull, but the Advertising Board activities are far from dull. Besides the very real joy found in their useful work, the members found lighter entertainment at the November house party and in other social events.

Members of the Activity Budget committee discuss a proposed poster for use in a campaign. Hartley Owen, Patsy Jones, Jeannine Miller, Jo Ann Wiedenmann, and Gerald Adamson.

Speakers' Bureau

The Speakers' Bureau was organized twenty years ago to meet a definite need at Central. Since the beginning, this organization has participated in all types of programs, drives, assemblies, radio broadcasts, plays, civic club programs, and the Daze.

Meeting on Monday and Tuesday of alternate weeks, the Speakers' Bureau, under the guidance of Miss Alphild Larson, serves the school in a speaking capacity whenever the demand or need arises. Its motto is "Speech for Use." To develop power, technique, poise, and efficiency in platform speaking, as well as to serve the school, is the aim of its membership.

To become a member of the Speakers' Bureau, you must have a recommendation from an English teacher, then a tryout before the whole organization. It is considered an honor and a pleasure to be a member of this organization.

The officers of the year were president, Jack Wamsley; vice-president, Charles Masters; recording secretary, Ruth Ann Imler; corresponding secretary, Shirley Pollock; treasurer, Douglas Cole; and sergeant-at-arms, Jimmy Patten.

Every one is interested in plans for speeches if he is from the Speakers' Bureau. Shirley Pollock, Chuck Masters, Ruth Ann Imler, Jack Wamsley, Douglas Cole, and Jim Patton.

Camarata

Camarata, organized as a comradeship club in 1933, has many and varied activities; and under the direction of its sponsor, Miss Esther Larson, the members serve the school in many ways. They served as hostesses at the P.-T.A. special activities and ushered at all of the school productions with the exception of the Daze. During the Christmas season Camaratas sold "War Cry" magazines to students. The proceeds from this activity were given to the Salvation Army with a commission for Camarata, which was donated to the Student Aid Fund. Each year Camarata has donated a sizeable amount to the Student Aid Fund. Recently these donations have been in the form of War Bonds earmarked for student aid.

Meetings are held on alternate Wednesday mornings during the home room period. The presiding officers for this year were Nancy Kramer, president; Julia Moore, vice-president; Betty Jo Ingram, secretary; and Judy Beth Berry, treasurer.

As they have shown by their years of useful service, the Camaratas have certainly lived up to their purpose—to promote interest in social welfare and to educate the members for intelligent citizenship participation in social programs.

Camarata president, Nancy Kramer, sells a copy of THE WAR CRY to Gregg Anderson as part of the campaign to raise funds for the Salvation Army.

"I didn't. They killed me . . ."

Such jargon as this could be heard every Wednesday morning in room 227, and in case you haven't caught on yet, we're talking of the Veterans' meetings.

The Veterans' Club was organized to help veterans become adjusted to civilian life. Here they learned more about the benefits offered them under the G. I. Bill of Rights, and about their insurance policies. To come right down to it, it is a combination social and service club for the Veterans.

Veterans' Club

This is the first year that Central has had such an organization. It is under the sponsorship of Mr. Clarence Ehlers, who had the aid of Calvin Turner, president; Ralph Gambrell, vice-president; Roland Knode, secretary; and Herbert Putman, treasurer, after the veterans elected officers at the first of the year. Both Calvin and Roland were in the army while Hobart and Ralph were members of the Seabees. Mr. Ehlers was a member of the army air forces. Perhaps his being a veteran accounts for his ability to understand and help solve veterans' problems.

For entertainment during the year, the veterans had several dances and stag parties. Since most veterans have a store of experiences to tell to any willing listener, there was no lack of entertainment, and every one had lots of fun.

Guest speakers at the meetings told about such things as the G.I. Bill of Rights and their overseas experiences. The club helped members with a common interest to know each other, and the association together helped to make their return to high school pleasant.

Here are eighty-eight keys and Louise O'Brien for top entertainment at the Veterans' dance.

Trade and Industrial Club

The Tulsa Chapter of the Trade and Industrial Club, a state organization, is sponsored by Mr. M. J. Ruley and Mr. E. L. Southard. Some of the activities of the club were discontinued during the war because of the absence of many boys in the armed forces.

Trade and Industrial Club members, grouped around the club symbol, participate in their formal initiation ceremony.

The purposes and objectives of the club are many and varied—to promote better understanding between employer and employee, to awaken within the boy the desire to do good work, and to encourage respect in each boy for his vocation.

The club sponsors many activities; among those carried on this year were a Christmas party and an employer-employee banquet in the spring. The state organization sponsors an annual three-day convention after the close of school.

The officers for this year were Jimmy Dick, president; Jack Wellheusen, vice-president; Ed Moorman, secretary-treasurer; and Harry Holbrook, sergeant-at-arms. A special honor has come to the club this year by having the state president, Charles Jones, chosen from the Tulsa chapter.

The club is valuable to the community in promoting good work from the employee and better understanding from the employer.

Distributors' Club

The Distributors' Club is an organization of vocational students in cooperative part-time distributive education classes. This organization is associated with other distributive clubs throughout the state and nation.

The purpose is to develop a feeling of civic, social, and moral responsibility in those who are to be future business leaders, and to explore opportunities in the field of distribution. The last aim was certainly fulfilled, for every one of the students had a position in a retail store.

Projects included field trips to factories and display advertising departments of plants, and the publication every nine weeks of a club paper, The Dec News. Also each club member arranged a merchandise display.

By way of social activities, the main event was a trip to the 1947 convention where the delegates spent three days at Prices' Falls. Besides the semi-monthly business meetings, the club had at least three socials during the school year. One of these was the annual Christmas dinner, which was held at Michaelis Cafeteria. The gifts and Christmas tree from the party were given to the Salvation Army for distribution among underprivileged children.

The sponsors were Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick and Miss Alice Young. The officers were Margaret Sivers, president; Joan Stark, vice-president; Clara Solomon, secretary; Opal Cooper, treasurer; and Mildred Thompson, editor. They all deserve credit for the successful year.

Margaret Sivers, at work in a retail store, checks a suit with minute care before a customer comes in.

Stagecraft Club

Sponsored by Mr. Albert Martin, the Stagecraft Club, one of the most hard-working groups in Central, is the backbone of all school activities connected with the stage. The student superintendent is Billy Hawman. The only girl member, Betty Martin, has assumed the duties of secretary. Because there are so many different types of work, there are several departments, with assistant superintendents in charge of each: Bill Graham, scenery; Lilburn Valentine, electricity; Ted Sullivan, properties; Bill Teal and Bill Briggs, projection.

Twenty-five feet above the stage floor it's all-important to keep your feet on top of the grid, as stagecraft members Wayne Sams, Bill Hawman, Ted Sullivan and Kenneth Gandall can very well tell you.

Every member has his home room period on stage and at least one period during the day with Mr. Martin. It is, however, outside of this time—after school hours—that most of the work is done, and hours toward credit may be recorded only for after-school service. The system that has been devised for giving credit to these stage workers is based on one credit for every 120 hours of work.

Hard work and no play might make these Stagecraft members rather dull people if it were not for the annual Halloween Ghost Walk. With the facilities at hand and the talents of the stagecraft boys and Mr. Martin, anything can happen and usually does.

The good times enjoyed by this group are well-deserved, for to them the students of Central owe more appreciation than they realize.

1. Tulsa's full-time mayor Price swears in Jack Shawgo, mayor-for-a-day.

2. Way up there, but not out of sight, Delmar Marston, assisted by Jim Bradley and Carla Hemphill, is decorating the Civitan Canteen for the Holly Hop while Bob Hackathorn looks on.

Hi-Y and Keystoners

3. Phil Schelb and Phyllis Philp, keepers of order and minutes respectively, eagerly await the beginning of a joint Hi-Y Keystoner meeting.
5. Jack Shawgo promises ever to be true to the traditions of mayor, if and when he is elected.
4. Dorothy Allen deposits one of those all-important ballots in the run-the-city election as the election board watches.
6. Hi-Y Keystoner members with busy fingers seek perfect beauty in decorating the Christmas tree.

Alpha Keystoners

When the gavel fell, the time was 7:30 on Monday nights at the Y.M.C.A., Alpha Keystoner meeting. Beth Beard, Alpha's president, was aided by Phyllis Philp, vice-president, while the minutes were read by Nancy Helland. Shirley Pollock reported on the condition of the treasury, and Ruth Ann Forrest gave the devotions.

Carla Hemphill performs an all-important job after joint meeting when dancing is in order. Bob Ragland and Nancy Henneberry wait for the music to begin.

Alpha's programs, which included such interesting subjects as racial relations, juvenile delinquency, and marriage, were planned by Barbara Cihak and Sally Emery. Alpha was represented in the Civitan Canteen by Carla Hemphill and Nancy Hendren, and on the Y.M.C.A. club newspaper, "Dingee Yo-Ho," by Jean Towers.

Some of the year's activities included the singing of Christmas carols with the other Y.M.C.A. Clubs; a Christmas party for The Children's Home with Sigma, Alpha's brother club; a farm party at Joan Haines' farm with Sigma; and of course the run-the-city campaign, under the direction of Phyllis Philp. Alpha's sponsor, Miss Virginia Myers, and the Keystoner secretary, Miss Eleanor Marks, were always ready with help and advice in any of the club's problems.

ALPHA KEYSTONER OFFICERS

First row: Shirley Pollock treasurer; Barbara Cihak, program chairman; Phyllis Philp ,vice-president. Second row: Ruth Ann Forrest, devotional leader; Joan Haines, sergeant-at-arms; Nancy Helland, secretary. Third row: Sally Emery, program chairman; Esther Hazen. project chairman; Beth Beard, president.

Alpha members join Sigma boys in a joint Christmas project of cheering those less fortunate than themselves.

Not happy to leave after the meeting, but just happy, are Joyce Flikkema, Joanne Downs, Nancy Helland, and Bob Worley.

Catching up on all the news are Alphas Barbara Cihak, Joan Haines, Beth Beard, Nancy Henneberry, and Jo Ann Wilson.

BETA KEYSTONERS

Beta Keystoners

Led by their president, Jean Romney, Beta members prospered in a year of entertainment and accomplishments.

Other officers for the year were Marjorie Nordin, vice-president; Dorothy Allen, secretary; Shirley Young, treasurer; Edith Neal, program chairman; Marileane Thompson, social chairman; Marilee Moore, devotional chairman; and Virginia Goddard, reporter.

Paula Mallams, Virginia Ferrall, and Floyd Phariss find real enjoyment in watching Keystoners swim at the Y.M.C.A. after a joint Hi-Y-Keystoners meeting.

Beta was well represented in the joint activities with Paula Mallams, editor of the news sheet, "Dingee-Yo-Ho," and Virginia Goddard, treasurer of the Civitan Canteen. On run-the-city day, Beta members Helen Donnelly, Beverly Berry, Jeanne White, and Ginger Webb took an active part in the business of running Tulsa.

At Christmas time the girls filled a basket for a needy Tulsa family. In the spring they held their annual style show to make money for the following year and also honored their mothers at a tea.

Beta meetings were held on Tuesday evenings and offered the members interesting and worthwhile programs, consisting of guest speakers, panel discussions, and talent shows. Betty Burlingame and Juanita Long, sergeants-at-arms, kept the enthusiastic crowd in check.

The year proved to be one of enjoyment, good fellowship, and valuable experience for all members.

Let's make it constitutional! Virginia Ferrall, Paula Mallams, and Marilee Moore think hard and long while working on a new constitution for Beta.

BETA KEYSTONER OFFICERS

First row: Virginia Goddard, reporter; Dorothy Allen, secretary. Second row: Juanita Long, sergeant-at-arms; Jean Romney, president; Marilee Moore, devotional leader. Third row: Shirley Young, treasurer; Marileane Thompson, social chairman; Betty Burlingame, sergeant-at-arms.

Dorothy Allen, Shirley Young, Jean Romney, and Helen Donnelly, police sergeants-for-a-day, assist Police Captain Phillips.

Ooo! A direct hit! Jean Romney, Beta president, scores one for her side in a snowball get-together. Helen Donnelly, Jean Romney, and Marjorie Nordon.

DELTA KEYSTONERS

Delta Keystoners

Pat Davidson, president, called the meeting to order. Frances Quetone, vice-president, led the group in the Hi-Y Keystoner pledge. Marie Gorden, secretary, then called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting, after which Rena Fanning gave the treasurer's report. Thus began Delta Keystoner meetings every Tuesday evening at 7:30. In order to raise money for the treasury and to keep order throughout the meeting, Bethal Hale, sergeant-at-arms, fined any unruly member one cent each time she talked out of turn. Mary Solomon was "Dingee-Yo-Ho" reporter; the club sponsor was Miss Marcella Collis.

"That water isn't really cold, Pat. It is just your imagination," says Glenna Nute to Pat Davidson, taking a plunge after meeting.

This year the charity project was a Christmas basket for a poor family. Each meeting in December the girls brought non-perishable foods until the basket was filled.

When Twirp Season started, the boys were out of luck. The girls held various hag parties, leaving the boys out in the cold. Twirp Season was soon dissolved.

In November the Deltas and the Junior-Senior Hi-Y had a ranch party at Camp Parthenia. In January the girls held a rummage sale in order to raise enough money to pay their national dues and to finance their activities. Each girl was assigned a certain duty during the sale. The annual carnival happily anticipated by all members because of the gala affairs of past years, turned out to be everything that had been expected. Altogether the Deltas had a busy and profitable year.

DELTA KEYSTONER OFFICERS

First Row: Joan Stark, social chairman; Louise Beal, Canteen representative; Rena Fanning, treasurer. Second Row: Gloria Brown, devotional leader; Frances Quetone, vice-president; Mildred Thompson, program chairman; Mary Solomon, "Dingee Yo-Ho" representative; Marilou Gano, calling chairman. Third Row: Marie Gordon, secretary; Pat Davidson, president; Bethal Hale, sergeant-at-arms.

Everybody wants to get into the act in Delta's weekly meetings.

Delta member, Dorothy Carroll, as secretary to Eugene Cruzan, stands by while Mr. George Stoner tells them how to run the office of Street Commissioner for the day.

Meeting at the well-known Great Spirit to talk over last night's meeeting and to plan for Delta's annual carnival are Betty Hugo, Pat Keller, and Wanda O'Harrow.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HI-Y

Junior-Senior Hi-Y

Junior-Senior Hi-Y members started the year enthusiastically with five out of six of the major offices in run-the-city-for-a-day being held by members of this organization.

Just drop around at any meeting and you'll find this ever-happy group of Junior-Senior Hi-Y men.

Jack Shawgo was elected mayor; Eugene Curzan, street commissioner; Dean Smith, water commissioner; Don Payne, city auditor; Joe Horkey, finance and revenue.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. John Richards, the club elected its own officers: Jim Burris, president; Jim Arrington, vice-president; Don Payne, secretary; Bob Hackathorn, treasurer; J. W. Brewington, social chairman; and Eddie Wies, program chairman. These officers helped the other members to get better acquainted and to know the true meaning of comradship.

One of the unforgettable occasions of this year's social life was a Halloween Party in the form of a picnic for all Hi-Y members at Mohawk Park. Another important event was a ranch party at Shell Creek for members only.

Junior-Senior Hi-Y has enjoyed a most successful year, and the members will remember not only the good fellowship but also the serious discussions which took place at the meetings.

SIGMA HI-Y

Sigma Hi-Y

As an organization, the Sigma Hi-Y takes part in a variety of activities and projects. Its participation in the Civitan Canteen and its trip to Waite Phillips' Children's Home for the purpose of entertaining and of giving gifts are two activities that helped to spread happiness this year.

The organization holds a meeting every Monday evening at seven-thirty at the Y.M.C.A. building for discussion and entertainment. This year there were four major discussion groups: Vocations, Boy-Girl Relations, The American Home, and Race Relations, each of which was prepared for, and discussed, in four consecutive meetings. The research and trading of opinions have proven beneficial to the boys. At these meetings Charles Carmack acted as president; Frank Ray, vice-president; Phil Schelb, secretary; Glen Potter, treasurer; and Don Bobeck as social chairman. Mr. John Tipton was sponsor of the Sigma Hi-Y. Delmar Marston represented the organization in the Civitan Canteen as program chairman for the Canteen.

For a bit of relaxation and fun the boys held a ranch party at Shell Creek and planned several dances. A joint party with the Alpha Keystoners at the Joan Haines farm was termed a grand success.

"He looked like a peddler just opening his pack." No, not Santa Claus, but close to him are these Sigma fellows who look over gifts to be taken to the Children's Home.

TRIANGLE HI-Y

Triangle Hi-Y

Triangle has chalked up another eventful and successful year. Every Monday night President Bob Cardin called the meeting to order. When Bob was absent, the gavel was handed to Vice-President Pete Ladas. Ed Jacoby took the minutes and Bob Klinzing took care of the money. Gerald Adamson planned programs for the entertainment of the group. Other officers were Simon Burkett, membership; James Dickson, chaplin; Jack DeWeese, canteen representative and Deno Ladas, reporter. Triangle was well represented in the run-the-city-for-a-day. Pete Ladas was elected Fire and Police Commissioner and all active members had a desk job.

Triangle Hi-Y members descend into the Y.M.C.A. lobby after a joint meeting with the Keystoners. Deno Ladas, Donald Scott, Bob Cardin, and Pete Ladas.

Each year the Hi-Y-Keystoners have an induction, which is a religious ceremony directed by Miss Isabelle E. Ronan, Central speech arts teacher. In this year's induction all the male parts with the exception of one were held by members of Triangle. They were also talented in radio and participated in all radio programs sponsored by the Hi-Y-Keystoner clubs.

The purpose of the Hi-Y organizations is to create friendship and good will towards others. Under the guidance of Mr. Dick Brown, sponsor, the boys have spent a worthwhile year.

RIFLE CLUB

Rifle Club

Tulsa Central's Rifle Club, having come into existence in April of 1946, is one of the younger organizations of the school. At the beginning of this year, there were twelve members in the club—the maximum possible at that time because there were only six targets. Toward the middle of the year, the club was able to obtain three more targets, an increase which enabled six more boys to gain membership.

The Rifle Club is under the sponsorship of Mr. Felix Vestal; Bill Keeler is president; Joe Wells, vice-president; Jim Sherman, secretary; and Jim Manning, treasurer. Clarence Eng is the executive officer who is in charge of all ammunition and equipment used at each meeting. Mr. Frank Parks, instructor, meets with the boys and advises them in the technical aspects of their hobby.

Since each individual is a member of the Junior National Riflemen's Association, the boys often enter postal matches in which any member of the national association may participate. They take part in competition for prone, sitting, kneeling, and off-hand positions.

All of these club activities are experience in the bank for the boys—experience in discipline and self-control if nothing else, that will enable them to be better citizens.

"Fire at will!" is a familiar command on the range of Central's Rifle Club.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

Chemistry Club

Among the world-renowned scientists of tomorrow, we should not be surprised to find many names from the roster of Central's Chemistry Club. The members of this organization are students who are interested in chemistry and related science. Chosen to serve as this year's officers were Paul Bryan, president; Jim Sherman, vice-president; Jack Peden, secretary; and Dick Waters, treasurer.

Janet Spore is justly afraid of what may happen to her in this Chemistry Club initiation. Jack Peden, Frank Cougler, Janet Spore, and Stewart Carlson.

These officers with Mr. George W. Pearson, the club's sponsor, planned many intriguing activities. Some of the most interesting and informative meetings were those in which laboratory experiments were performed. Sometimes the Chemistry Club ventured forth on a trip to a near-by refinery, foundry, or laboratory. A somewhat less-informative, but never-to-be-forgotten episode was the initiation. Rather atavistic in nature, this treatment made each member treasure well his place in the club. Also on the lighter side were the social activities. Each get-together was thoroughly enjoyed by all, and one of the most successful and memorable was the Christmas party.

All the activities of the Chemistry Club enable the members to enjoy the friendship of people with common interests and to share knowledge that will help them be better informed.

THE INTERNATIONAL CLUB

International Club

This year the International Club programs included reports, panels, guest speakers, and parties, all of which were well attended because they were informative and enjoyable.

Some of the more interesting student programs were given by Marguerite Eng, La Verne Morse, and Joan Lambros, authorities on their topics. The discussions were on current national and international questions. The guest speakers were always helpful and entertaining. Miss Ann Dawson spoke of Costa Rica; Mrs. Elsie Ives, a former missionary, told about the Pygmies of Africa. Eugene and Robert Morse recounted some of their experiences in China.

One Wednesday of each month was reserved for cabinet meeting. Seen at these meetings were Miss Sara Coleman, sponsor, LaVerne Morse, president; Deyo Hull, vice-president; Marguerite Eng, secretary; Lucille Krasne, treasurer; Doris Foust, reporter; Shirley Fowler, social chairman; and Ann Noble, program chairman.

Social meetings of International Club included a Valentine party at the home of Lucille Krasne, dinner at the Mandarin cafe and the annual picnic at Mohawk Park, closing the year's activities. Both educationally and socially, the year was a successful one.

Members of the International Club find great interest in the material from Costa Rica being shown by Miss Ann Dawson.

LETTERMEN

FIRST ROW: George Layman, W. A. Couch, J. W Brewington, Frank Vann, Harvey Sanders, Fleming Sherwood, Dick Sittel, Carlos Langston, Jack Shawgo, Joe Horkey, Jack Hubeli, Hale Staley. SECOND ROW: Bob Greenberg, Jack Montgomery, Owen Irish, Glen Hufford, Marcus Arrington, Brooks O'Kelly, Bob Collins, Burrell Aldridge, Ralph Gambrell, Frank Wamsley, Kenneth Logsdon, Leo Rodriguez. THIRD ROW: Herkey Fowler, Bob Meek, David Fields, R. C. McCormick, Ernest Esst, Bob Ashley, Jim Marshall, Dean Smith, Richard Strayer, Philip Viseur, Steve Bolyard, John Wilford. FOURTH ROW: Sponsor Grady Skillern, John Ross, Phil Smith, Gene Clark, Tom Tarpley, Floyd Phariss, Floyd Murphy, Carl Bottenfield, Chuck Masters, Jack Wamsley, Bob Benzel, Bob Battles.

The Lettermen's Club

Every other Thursday morning the lettermen come together for a meeting. They are led by President Chuck Masters, Vice-President Frank Vann, and Secretary Floyd Murphy. Usually a former coach, a business man, or a member of our own coaching staff gives a talk. Once in a while when there is an outstanding athlete or coach traveling through Tulsa, he speaks to the boys.

Happy Lettermen display Ipana smiles as they leave for the Lettermen's picnic. Phil Smith, Joe Horky, Dean Smith, Chuck Masters, Floyd Murphy, Frank Wamsley.

Sometimes during meetings they enjoy musical entertainment by a group of students. The Lettermen had a picnic at Mohawk Park at the first of the year and then another party this spring.

The club, sponsored by Coach Grady Skillern, is open to all lettermen. A boy automatically becomes a member when he has earned a "T" and has been voted in by the other members.

The club originated in September, 1925, as the Boys' Athletic Council. The purpose was to assist the athletic program in every way possible, to encourage sportsmanship, to develop fellowship, and to sponsor loyalty to Tulsa Central High School. This club enables the lettermen of the various sports to get together and know one another.

RED FEATHER SQUAD LEADERS

Red Feathers

The first Red Feather pep squad was seen in the fall of 1939, and since then the members have appeared in their traditional costumes of a red skirt and a white sweater at almost every athletic game sponsored by the school.

To belong to Red Feathers a girl must have passing grades in all her subjects and pay a membership fee of ten cents for one year. The girls are organized into squads which operate on a competitive basis. Points are given each squad for attendance at meetings and games.

The officers for this year, elected at the close of last school year, were June Arnold, president; Joyce McFarland, vice-president; Julia Moore, secretary; and Betty Jo Ingram, treasurer. Judy Beth Berry wrote a letter to the football team before every game, wishing them luck. Marianne and Marjorie Blackburn, Joan Bothell, Ann Hasty, Mary Hudgens, and Sue Crossland officiated as cheer-leaders and helped cheer our football team to the state championship this year.

The Red Feathers, guided by their sponsors, Miss Ruth Holton, Miss Ruth Draper, and Miss Elizabeth Lomax, do a lot for the morale of the school and as in the past, they will in the future cheer our teams to greater victories.

June Arnold, Central, and Marjorie Rust, president of Rogers Dudes, exchange annual challenges before the Central-Rogers football game.

WINNING RED FEATHER SQUAD—Number 10

RED FEATHER CABINET AND SPONSORS

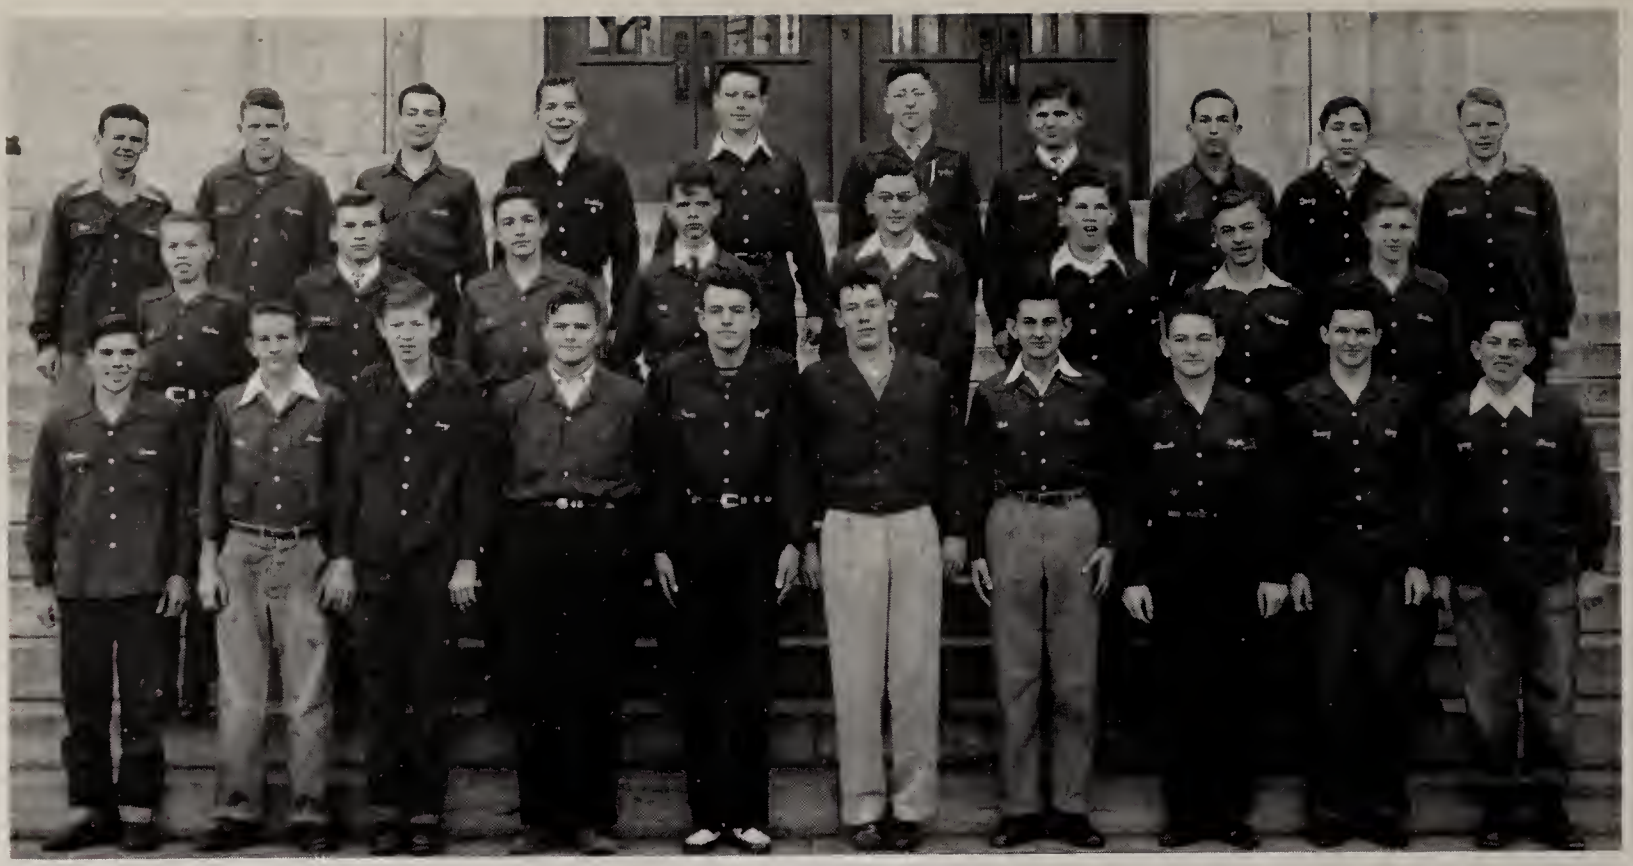
"Bo-bo, Ski-watan, Dot-an," chant cheer leaders Mary Hudgens and Robert Stein, Marianne and Marjorie Blackburn, in a pep assembly.

It's a touchdown! And the cheer leaders express their satisfaction with the traditional dance of victory



SCALPERS—Group I

Scalpers

The main function of the Scalpers, aiding Central's athletic teams through the medium of cheers, has won the envy and respect of others. The Scalpers is a well organized, cooperative organization. As a cheering squad, the Scalpers hold the school traditions high, never failing to join with the Red Feathers in providing that extra bit of urging that the athletic teams need sorely when the going is tough.

Scalper cheer leaders Robert Stein (down in front) and Wayne Burk (in the air) join Red Feather leaders to stimulate school spirit at the pep assembly before the Central-Rogers game.

Mr. Venable and Mr. Ledbetter, sponsors of the Scalpers, are active in organizing the boys into the grand display of artful cheering so evident at all events. All-school cheerleader, Wayne Burk; the two assistant cheerleaders, Robert Stein and Jack Trader; the sophomore cheerleaders, Glen Keck, James Bradshaw, and Bill Trimble, led the boys in their turbulent cheers.

The boys earn shirt emblems by a system whereby they receive points for all services rendered at football games, basketball games, the Daze, plays, and other school performances.

This year's officers of the Scalpers were Wayne Flippo, president; Tommy Ray, vice-president; Simon Burkett, secretary; and Bob Worley, treasurer.

Members of the bass section relax a moment before curtain time.

A Cappella Choir

A Cappella Choir started the year off by electing officers. Last spring Bob Davis was elected president pro tempora; but when Bob left for the navy, the choir had to hold an early election of officers. The results were as follows: president, Wayne Ealey; vice-president, Bob Worley; secretary-treasurer, Joe Ann Dixon; robe keeper, Dick Stanton; librarians, Bob Arrington and Walter Taylor. There were seventy-nine members in the choir this year, an increase of six from last year.

At first the choir had some difficulty with the robes. Some did not fit; and worst of all, there were six fewer robes than choir members. Then Mr. Whitney, their competent director, found a Tulsa church willing to lend six of its choir robes for appearances, since its robes are maroon like those of the A Cappella Choir.

A Cappella Choir

All robes must be exactly ten inches from the floor in hem length. The girls wear pumps of black, brown or navy blue. The boys must wear white shirts and dark ties.

The first appearance of the year was at Saint Paul's Methodist church where the choir was warmly received. The group made its annual appearance at Lowell school late in November, an event to which members look forward each year, since many of them are past students of Lowell. They also appeared on the Thanksgiving assembly and the Christmas assembly, as well as participating in the production of the "Messiah." Every member of the choir will agree that Christmas caroling through the halls was the most fun of all appearances.

This spring the choir took part in a music convention at Convention Hall. Choirs from the seven southwestern states attended.

Say, that must have been funny to the girls on the front row! Beth Beard, Barbara Cihak, and Joe Ann Dixon.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL BAND

First Row: Don Durkee, Carolyn Head, Pat Ann Long, Gene Emanuel, Jimmy Crews, Mr. C. Green, Thomas Molloy, Bob Swindell, Charles Brewer, Don Pearson.

The band parades on the football field between halves of the Central-Rogers game.

Band

In resplendent red and white uniforms Central's band began and finished a most successful year of activities. It played for all the football games in and out of town, for school assemblies, for community parades, and for many other community affairs. The band played for the Southwestern Music Conference, which was held early in the spring. The two main events were the spring and the exchequer concerts.

The band played both classical and modern music in order to create a feeling for both in the hearts of the listeners and in the players themselves.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL BAND

BETTY JO INGRAM—Queen of the Band

Band

Betty Jo Ingram was chosen to reign over the band this year with Ann Dowell and Jaunita Long as her attendants. Betty Jo is the fourth queen of the band, a new one being elected each year.

SCHOOL LIFE STAFF

School Life

Fridays through Wednesdays are busy days in the Tulsa School Life office. Since the paper must be out every week on Thursday mornings, these days are filled with proofreading, typing, writing, headlining, covering newsbeats, and interviews. This year's co-editors from Central, Jack Paden and Janet Spore, can verify this fact. Assisting them in reading galley and page proofs were the Central page editors, Joyce MacFarland, Jim Patten, Richard Gentry, Dorothy Ratliff, Betty Pitts, Barbara Cihak, Lionel Gordon, and John Ross. Such page editors are often at their typewriters on Saturdays or on holidays to get the paper ready to go out the next Thursday.

School Life Reporter Doris Foust interviews Rubinoff and his violin just before the famous musician plays for assembly.

On Thursday mornings before the paper came out, Wayne Flippo and Deryl Watson saw that the papers were counted and distributed properly. Mary Carolyn Sample sent out approximately one hundred papers a week in exchange, while Ruth Plummer, business manager, added the advertising inches and sent out the bills.

The Tulsa School Life staff, under the direction of Miss Ann Crotchett, the efficient director of journalism, is comprised of some of the busiest people in Central, Rogers, and Webster. These people, who put out a great amount of energy in its publication, are responsible for our high school paper.

TOM TOM STAFF

Tom Tom Staff

The organization which makes it possible for you to be reading this yearbook is the Tom Tom staff. Every day the busy members of the staff scurried about getting pictures, organization write-ups, and the many features which make up your Tom Tom; while the art staff, under the guidance of Miss Lucile Adams, planned and created the art work found throughout the book, Mary Jo Stahl, business manager, and Greta Stone, editor, kept money affairs straight and tried to prevent errors from slipping into the book.

This year we who were members of the staff learned that there was more to getting out a Tom Tom than paying for one. Under the leadership of our experienced director, Mr. C. X. Dowler, we learned the ins and outs of preparing this yearbook for publication. And though we found that there was a great deal of work and responsibility involved in making it, we felt privileged to be able to accept the challenge of making the 1947 Tom Tom the best possible.

To counterbalance the work, the staff had several social events: parties, a dinner, a girls' slumber party, and for both the editorial and art staffs, a picnic at Mohawk, and a breakfast at Bishop's. The work and fun and fellowship have made serving on the Tom Tom staff a memorable experience.

SAINT CECILIANS

St. Cecilians

St. Cccilians enjoy a moment of relaxation before curtain time.

With sixty-five girls to look after, Mr. Gerald Whitney, director of the forty-four voices and twenty-one musical instruments of the Saint Cecilians, has his hands full.

Any girl in Central who has a good singing voice may be a Saint Cecilian. Although most of the members are sophomores, there were a few juniors and seniors in the organization this year. The reason for there being so many more sophomores is that this is the first year that the organization has been active since 1944.

The officers for this year were Sue Scott, president; Joyce Fuller, vice-president; Sue Cole, secretary-treasurer; and Sally McCray and Bette Davis, librarians. Lois Mae Hammack was the permanent piano accompanist.

The Saint Cecilian's first appearance this year was on the first general assembly.

St. Cecilians

The organization gave a Christmas program for the Rotarian's ladies' day luncheon, and one at the Boston Avenue Methodist church early in December. In April the girls gave their formal spring concert.

The Saint Cecilians are the only high school group in this part of the country that has an orchestra as a regular part of its organization, according to Mr. Whitney, the director. This group will perform for any civic club or church group, since these performances inspire the girls to perfect their numbers.

Before each performance there was a bevy of girls worrying about how they looked, whether their formals hung straight, and whether their hair was combed prettily. But during each concert the girls managed to look like what their name implies—little angels.

Seen from above in the dimness before the curtain goes up, the St. Cecilians in their formal gowns chat quietly with each other.

ORCHESTRA

Orchestra

The orchestra has had a successful program this year under the able direction of Mr. Clarence F. Gates. The students played at all of the class and speech arts plays, adding greatly to the atmosphere, besides giving a program of their own in assembly.

Working with the choral groups, the orchestra had a major part both in the beautiful "Messiah" and in "The Bartered Bride." "The Messiah" was presented on the Sunday afternoon before Christmas. The public showed its appreciation by filling the south auditorium for the occasion. During the first part of May, the orchestra, along with all of the other music groups in the school system, participated in the Music Festival, an annual event.

Besides these performances of the orchestra as a whole, smaller groups of the orchestra performed before clubs, lodges, and church organizations.

Naoma Bowyer uses a deft touch in playing the tympani as the orchestra performs in the Christmas assembly.

ORCHESTRA

Orchestra

Like all other organizations, the orchestra has officers. This year, Milton Breeding presided, and Phyllis Philp took his place when he was absent. Pete Ladas, as secretary, took the role and kept a record of everything but the money, which Peggy Henson managed. Those who brought Student Council news back to the class were Harry Knowles, senior; Helen Dean, junior; and Dick Baker, sophomore. James Rand, being librarian, passed out the music.

Nevertheless, all was not work. Induction and initiation ceremonies were held at the first of the year. Parties came at various times during the year. The Orchestra had its regular spring picnic and also its spring banquet, which was the loveliest affair of the year.

When asked about the aim of the orchestra, Mr. Gates said, "We strive to play all types of music from popular to symphonic."

These girls, one of the many small groups of the Orchestra who play for outside activities during the year, are in the gym waiting for the Parent-Teacher reception to begin.

"So that's how it's done!" In a typical opera rehearsal, director Gerald Whitney demonstrates the proper technique to Buell Jolly and Pat Irwin, when Pat feigns lack of knowledge on the subject.

Opera Club

A valuable organization both to its members and to the community is the Opera Club. Under the direction of Mr. Gerald Whitney it has presented the annual opera, has contributed to the production of "The Messiah," has taken part in the Southwestern Music Convention, and the Spring Festival. Mrs. Frances Wellmon Anderson is accompanist for the club.

This year's high officials were Keith Owens, president; Bill Gettings, vice-president; Patty Gladson, secretary-treasurer for the first semester; and Marilyn Hitch, secretary-treasurer for the second semester.

Immediately following the final performance of "The Bartered Bride," the annual opera club party was held at Cal Arnold's home. In the spring opera clubbers found time for the ever popular annual club picnic.

"The Bartered Bride"

The setting of "The Bartered Bride," by Bedrick Smetana, is a small Bohemian village. Kezal, James Carstarphen, the marriage broker, has made a match between Marie, Pat Irwin, and Vashek, Calvin Arnold. Marie's mother and father, Ludmila, Alyce Reed, and Krushina, Bob MacDowell, feel that Marie would do well to marry Vashek.

Marie, however, loves another. Micha, Richard Baldwin, Vashek's father, has another son by his first wife. Hata, Claudia White, mother of Vashek, drove the first son from home. Jenik, Buell Jolly, Marie's true lover, sells her love to Kezal with the agreement that she shall wed none other than Micha's son. Jenik, however, is Micha's first son and thus claims the hand of the lovely Marie.

Five other villagers console the Bartered Bride, Pat Irwin, when it seems that her lover has been bargaining for her affection. Standing: Bob McDowell, Richard Baldwin, Claudia White, James Carstarphen. Seated: Alyce Reed and Pat Irwin.

These students, members of the Daze Advisory Board, decide which acts will take part in the Daze.

Danny Fisk and Darla Graham accept Milton's invitation to "Come and trip it as ye go, on the light fantastic toe."

"One, two, three, four." It takes a lot of practice to get in shape for the Daze. The Candy Cane chorus directed by Betsy Markland and Ann Wolfe enters the tryouts.

In rags and tatters the all-girl hill-billy band makes the Daze audience beat time with them. You may hear them on the Grand Old Opry next.

Up and down, back and forth, goes the silver ball, all at the command of Bob Kramer. A master at the art of magic, he demonstrates his skill in the Daze.

"Take it, Paul," says Sammy Crossland to Paul Nicholson at the piano.

Betty Essley, Jill Athey, and Sue Scott are dressed for their song, "But Her Bathing Suit Never Got Wet."

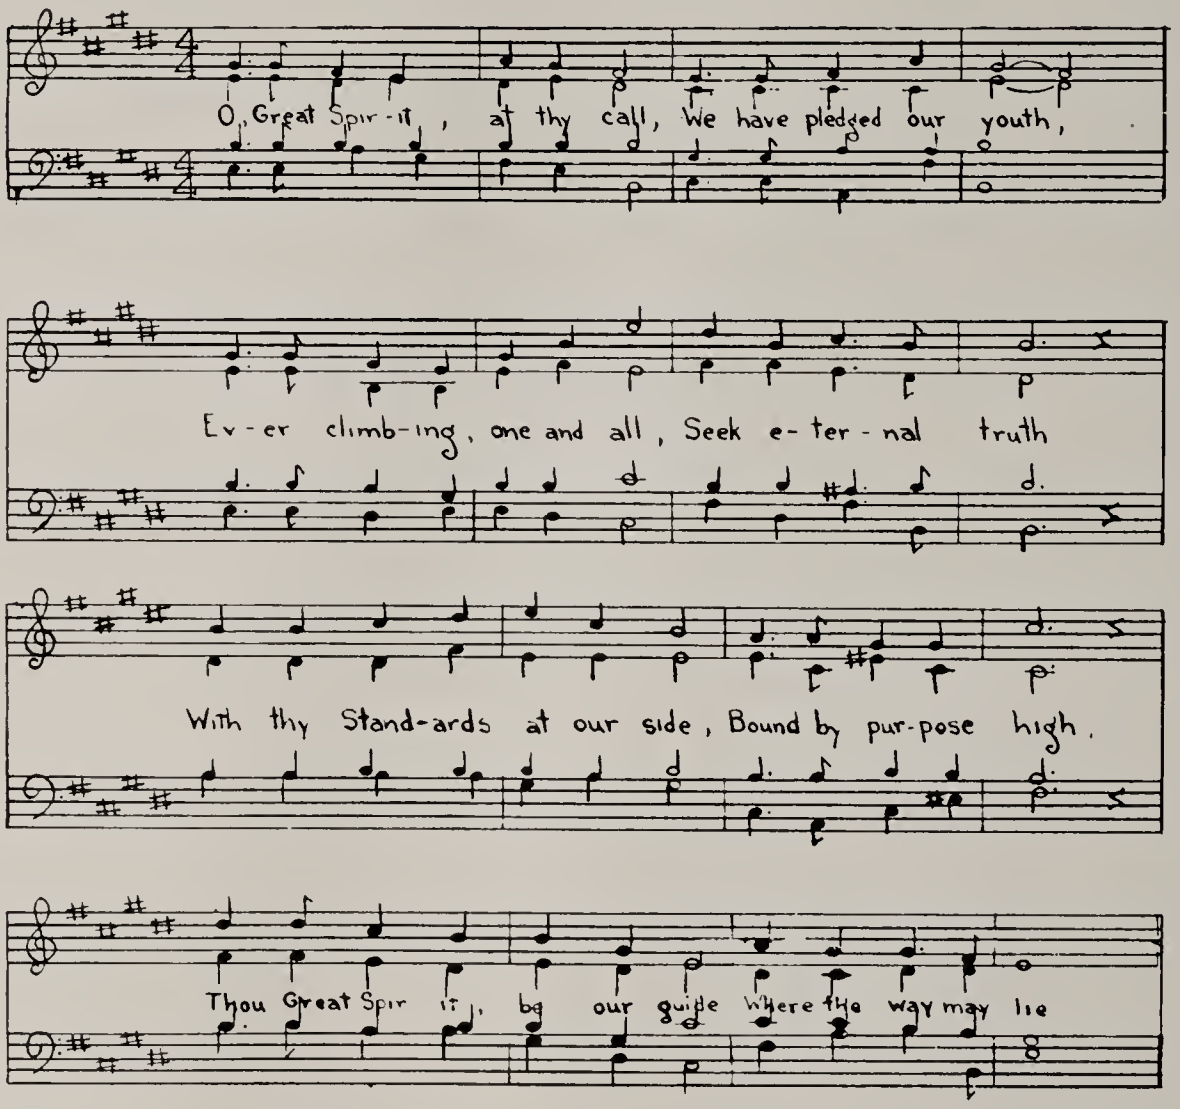
Words by
DORIS ALLEN



With thy vision light our eyes,
Show thy heights above,
Grant us wisdom, thou art wise,
Teach us thy great love
Consecrate our aim sincere
Cleanse each inmost soul
O Great Spirit, be thou near Distant shines the goal

For the beauty through each day
Joy and friendship true
Gifts of thine along the way
Hear our thanks anew
When we gain the farthest height
By thy wisdom taught
We shall find thee, truth and light
Thou art all we sought

Student's Prayer

TO BE EVER CONSCIOUS of my unity with God; to listen for His voice, and hear no other call.

To separate all error from my thought of man, and see him only as my Father's image; to show Him reverence and share with Him my holiest treasures.

To keep my mental home a sacred place, golden with gratitude, redolent with love, white with purity, cleansed from the flesh.

To send no thought into the world that will not bless, or cheer, or purify, or heal.

To have no aim but to make earth a fairer, holier place, and to rise each day into a higher sense of life and love.

Student's Creed

I BELIEVE IN HONEST WORK, in generous comradeship, in the courage of high convictions. I believe in the inspiration that comes from contact with all that is truest and best, in books, in people, in life. I believe in loyalty to our high school, the fostering mother of these ideals, and I pledge her my allegiance in all her undertakings; in all that will make her a stronger and nobler school.

My mother has told me of girls like you, but I have been lucky enough not to meet one until this year. I am not going to tell you I have enjoyed knowing you. This year because [illegible]. As for a this year being swell for you I cannot find words that express [illegible] you [illegible] me. [illegible] confidant [illegible] your hair isn't provided, but I'll have to be shown. Parts of this is in fun but you are a bit on the peculiar side. The feelings mutual about not seeing each other again. I too find it a little trying —

Dear Anna,
Gee! Whiz you don't know how she loved having you
in myart cl's. you have made the ordeal much easier.
She never met anyone quite as sweet as more fun.
Love,
